Exclusive to the Edmonton Bulletin. LONDON, March 11.—(AP)—Allied pilots held about a three-to-one advantage over the Axis in the number of planes destroyed in the last year in the European-African air war.

On March 11, German forces are homeless as a result of the battle for the Reich. Since the Communists, adding that the British and Canadian forces had dropped 4,000 tons of bombs on Europe in the first 10 days of March.

The summary of Allied losses follows: In the battle of Egypt and Libya, the Germans lost 1,477 planes destroyed or captured; the R.A.F. lost 345.

In the battle of Tunisia, the Germans lost 167 planes and the British-American forces lost 392. This made a total loss for the Axis of 137 against 2,244 for the Allies.

In addition, Sinclair said, the Germans have lost the most planes in the last three months of fighting over western Europe.

The air minister paid tribute to the United States of America for referring to them as "lionhearted and skillful fighters."

Mr. C. C. C. Eaker of the U.S. Air Force, speaking at a Wings for Victory ceremony in London, said:

Aid Asked For Men Discharged From Services

OTTAWA, March 11.—(CP)—The Pension Minister Mackenzie to-day asked the government to provide every community of citizens committees to assist discharged members of the forces in their return to civilian life.

In an address prepared for delivery to the parliamentary reconstruction committee Mr. Mackenzie said that the government was doing its best to help these men.

Officers of the department, he said, had experienced some difficulty in persuading young men to enlist in the army.

"During the war we have practically unlimited employment opportunities," he said, "and yet we are unable to obtain work for these young men."

Canada Aid to Allies' Cause Is Emphasized

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(CP)—Canada's position as a Great Arsenal for the United Nations was featured in a report sent to Congress today by Edward R. Stettinius, lend-lease administrator, reporting on the first two years of the mutual aid plan.

The report stressed the two-way character of lend-lease and went on to say that the R.A.F. is not limited to transfers between the United States and other Lend-Lease countries.

"Canada has supplied the United States with a large number of ships, and the United States has supplied Canada with a large number of ships."

To Prevent Want

F.D.R. Places Broad Social Security Plan Before U.S. Congress

By J. F. SANDERSON

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(CP)—President Roosevelt laid before Congress yesterday the broad outlines of an enlarged and extended program of social security, covering the American people from the cradle to the grave and designed to ensure freedom from want in the post-war era.

In a review corresponding in scope and importance to the report of Sir William Beveridge in Britain, the National Resources Planning Board made specific recommendations to cushion the economic effects of the transition period from war to peace and toward major objectives of a social security and public aid policy for the peace to come.

The President expressed the hope that Congress "will give the matter full consideration during this session. We must not return to the inequities, insecurity and fears of the past, but ought to move forward towards the promise of the future."

Guarantee of Employment Urged

The report of the National Resources Planning Board was split into two parts—one dealing with the transition period and making such recommendations as a guaranteed job for every soldier and wartime worker and the second relating to long-term planning to broaden the whole base of social security laws in the United States.

The National Resources Planning Board contended that with proper planning the United States may hope for a life of abundance unparalleled in all history.

In his letter of transmittal, Mr. Roosevelt told the Congress:

"We fight today for security for our nation and at the same time we can endeavor to give our citizens and their families security against attacks from without, and against fear of economic distress in old age, in poverty, sickness, involuntary unemployment and accidental injuries."

"We need to look forward to the accomplishment of these objectives—world peace, democratic society and a dynamic economy."

But there was little immediate enthusiasm manifest in Congress. Chairman Walter George of the Senate Finance Committee, which would consider such legislation, said he did not believe Congress would be ready to proceed at this session with broadening the social security system.

LaGuardia May Go to Africa

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP)—New York Mayor LaGuardia was reported today to be interested in going to North Africa, possibly as administrator of Italian colonies in Libya.

Informed persons here reported LaGuardia had been in contact tentatively, at staff of half a dozen more persons, with a group of North African officials.

As one person outlined the program, LaGuardia would work both with allies behind the United Nations and in the North African area. In addition to administering Italian colonies in Libya, he would participate in planning work directed at the United Nations.

Nazi Attacks Near Kharkov Are Repulsed

By HENRY SHAPIRO

Exclusive to the Edmonton Bulletin. MOSCOW, March 11.—(AP)—Red army forces fighting against heavy odds are repulsing powerful German attacks in a crucial battle south and west of Kharkov, front reports said today as the Soviet press again emphasized the lack of a second front in western Europe.

The German high command reported that the Russians had broken back toward Kharkov and fighting now is going on in the northern and western outskirts of the city.

The Soviet offensive on the central front gathered momentum. The Russian assault forces drove to the approach of Vasil, near strongholds of the crumbling German defense, while another column pushed forward from the north to cut the Smolensk railroad behind Vyazma and trap the Nazi divisions.

U.K. Sets Up Command For Air Transport

LONDON, March 11.—(CP)—Air Secretary Sir Archibald Sinclair announced to the House of Commons today the creation of an R.A.F. transport command as the result of agitation for Britain to make an effort to recoup her wartime losses of position in world air transport.

Sir Archibald said no decision had been made yet concerning a commander for the new command.

"I have not the slightest doubt why the name of a very distinguished officer has appeared in the newspapers," he said in an apparent reference to Air Chief Marshal Sir Frederick William Bowhill, commander of the Royal Air Force Headquarters in Montreal, whose name has been mentioned in this connection. Sir Archibald did not name the officer, however.

In War Operations

Charge British Command Lacks Initiative, Daring

CAMBRIDGE, England, March 11.—(CP)—Admiral of the fleet Baron Keyes, former director of combined operations, complained in a lecture last night that the British command lacks daring and initiative in the war and criticized the conduct of last August's Dieppe raid which was spearheaded by Canadian troops.

Baron Keyes, retired in November, 1931, said he knew "very little about the Dieppe raid except the part played by the 3rd and 4th Commandos in their attacks on German batteries on either side of the town." He made no mention of Maj.-Gen. J. H. Roberts, commander of a Canadian Division, who directed the operation from a ship lying offshore.

It said he thought the plan to land these commandos so close to dawn was running a great risk

LANDING TOO LATE

"As events proved the main landing at Dieppe against a heavily defended position did not take place early enough to secure the beach and permit the tanks which were landed to land after daylight to make good their landing," Baron Keyes said.

"They were all knocked out by well-aimed anti-tank guns which could not be dealt with either from the air or the sea."

He conceded that the fact that more than 300 vessels crossed the channel through a minefield which had to be swept and that with the exception of one, that carrying the 3rd Commando, arrived at their destinations at the appointed time was "greatly to the credit of the navy."

ATTACK UNEXPECTED

He declared the fact that a lightly escorted German tanker was using at the time was proof that the Germans had no suspicion that an attack on Dieppe was imminent.

But, he said, it was never explained why this convoy was not reported to the naval officer in command in time to have it intercepted and dealt with before it could report the presence of a large force of troops approaching the coast, "as it evidently did with disastrous results."

Baron Keyes, former director of combined operations, complained in a lecture last night that the British command lacks daring and initiative in the war and criticized the conduct of last August's Dieppe raid which was spearheaded by Canadian troops.

"Oh, I feel so discouraged about it sometimes. Mom's a WAVE, sister's a WAVE, and what are we? Just GIRLS!"

Baron Keyes criticized the "pernicious system" of inter-service committees which he charged had frustrated British initiative and daring in this war.

OPPORTUNITIES MISSED

"It is humiliating to us sailors that it should have been left to the Russians, Germans and Japanese to show us the way to wage an amphibious form of warfare, a form of warfare in which I am positive we could excel if only our high command could be induced to face some risks to win a great prize."

He said "golden opportunities" were missed during the 1940 campaign in Norway.

Propose Ban on Children Seeing "Adult" Pictures

WINNIPEG, March 11.—(CP)—A bill to prohibit children under 14 from attending motion pictures advertised as "adult" unless accompanied by a parent or guardian was proposed in the Manitoba legislature yesterday.

A. Lloyd Clark (Cdn. Lib. Prog. St. Boniface), moved that a committee report on children attending motion pictures be referred back with instructions to recommend a bill to be introduced as a private member's bill.

Alexander Warns:

Submarine Position Viewed "As One of Great Menace"

By LOUIS V. HUNTER

LONDON, March 11.—(CP)—A. V. Alexander warned the House of Commons last night that the Admiralty views the submarine position "as one of great menace," but defended his department against criticism of its anti-submarine policy and against charges that it is not air-minded.

Seamen Say Rescue Gained By Prayer

MIAMI, March 11.—(AP)—The story of three men who survived 43 days on a life raft was told here by a United States navy gunner who never gave up hope "because I knew God was with me all the way."

Daily prayers were answered, said 20-year-old Seaman Basil D. Izzi, of South Barre, Mass., by occasional rain storms, which provided water and by the birds and fish which were caught for food.

Izzi, who lost 58 pounds during the ordeal, and two Netherlands merchant seamen were picked up by a United States warship Jan. 24 about 2,500 miles from the spot where their United Nations freighter was torpedoed Nov. 2, 1942, off the coast of South America.

Canadian Soldier Killed in Tunisia

SYDNEY, N.S., March 11.—(CP)—Relatives here were advised yesterday Capt. Dave May of Sydney, one of the Canadian soldiers sent to North Africa for battle experience this winter, has been killed in action in Tunisia. A native of New Brunswick, he was living in Montreal at the outbreak of war. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. May of Montreal.

The first Lord, winding up a debate on naval estimates which were passed at the end of the sitting, declared that the United States navy "has been amazingly difficult" because every offensive move and every territorial liberation has cost them more merchant tonnage and more escorts.

In a spirited rejoinder to critics of the admiralty, Alexander declared he would make it "quite plain" that "those responsible for naval control have a great deal to do with enabling our brave officers and men to be successful in their task."

CHIEFS IN ACTION

Alexander said the chief of naval staff had commanded a cruiser squadron in the war and that as assistant chiefs of staff also have been active service in this war.

"I was still experienced and the policy of bringing them back to operational matters which has so much to do with our being able to win the war without precedent," he told the house.

The navy, with the support of the air force, has carried out its task, he said, and in addition has carried troops all around the world.

"I feel I am entitled to say to the House that whilst no one is more modest in my own estimation, more grateful for the wonderful work of the men at sea, we have some reason to be proud of the way in which they have guided the whole of the strategic and practical planning at the Admiralty."

The first Lord denied charges he said were "fanciful about the Admiralty is not air minded." "You have never faced such a naval situation before in all your history and it is because of the sense of urgency felt by the Admiralty that we have been able to deal with the situation and at the same time come to the help of other services as well," he said.

TWO TYPES USED

When he went to the Admiralty in May, 1940, he said, the Sea and Swordfish were the only aircraft flying operationally with the navy. In that year priority was given to building fighters for the defence of Britain, "and I've had lost control of the air then we should have lost the whole battle."

The navy now is getting Barracuda and Avenger torpedo bombers and hopes for early deliveries of Curtiss dive-bombers which are being manufactured in Canada under the name of "Hellcat," he said.

Looking back three years and remembering the casualties, Alexander suggested, the fact that Britain has the same number of aircraft carriers at sea, a large number of auxiliaries and an expanding air fleet did not seem to indicate the admiralty had been idle in meeting the aerial threat to communications.

The first lord said the admiralty had not been able to obtain from the government all the aircraft it wanted for the coastal command, but had got "sufficient to make a great change in the situation."

FAST SHIPS "IDEAL"

He referred to the question of increasing the number of fast merchant ships, brought up earlier by Emanuel Stinson, Liberal, saying that to have nothing but fast ships would obviously be ideal, but until the American building program was well under the way the safest thing was to get the largest output of tonnage with the labor and ships available.

Doctor Shortage Not Yet Serious

Archer Declares

HALIFAX, March 11.—(CP)—The shortage of trained medical personnel for civilian needs in Canada cannot yet be called "serious," but might become so, if the situation is not handled skilfully, Dr. A. E. Archer of Lunenburg, Alta., said here last night.

Dr. Archer is chairman of a committee of the Canadian medical profession and maintenance board that is here to survey the medical situation in Nova Scotia. Dr. Archer said health problems are most pressing on the east and west coasts and in the larger inland cities, but the most marked shortage of doctors, dentists and trained medical personnel exists in the rural areas of New Brunswick and the prairie provinces.

Lake Huron Port May Be Plugged

By Huge Ice Jam

GODERICH, Ont., March 11.—(CP)—The $5,000,000 harbor of the Lake Huron port was reported last night to be in danger from a mile-long ice jam plugging the mouth of the swollen Manitowish river, already 15 feet above normal water level.

There was no immediate danger to the city itself as the river flows there, but the swollen waters already have started to spill over the river banks in the backwoods, inundating a number of farms, fences and a bus have been washed away and considerable livestock marooned.

UNLESS the Red Deer Army hoopers can show a sharp reversal of form at the Arena tonight, the "M" Depot basketball squad will soon be headed into the final round of the Alberta playoffs against either Raymond or Macleod. A 20-point deficit is quite a handicap for the soldiers to overcome.

Neither team's shooting was anything startling and both sides should improve for the second game. The R.C.A.F. made a total of 16 field goals out of 47 attempts or a percentage of 33.7, while the Army succeeded in hitting the net just eight times out of 54 for an average of 14.8.

Best performance of the "M" Depot was in the third quarter when five baskets resulted from 13 tries. First quarter figures were five out of 18 and the second quarter four field goals came from 22 chances. The Altimers made good on only two shots out of 14 in the final period.

The soldiers did their best work to the last quarter when they made three baskets out of 17 shots. They collected three out of 13 in the 10th minute in the second half and had only one field goal to show for 27 attempts in the last quarter.

Both teams had 19 free throws and the Army registered on two of them, while the R.C.A.F. experts missed only three out of their 20. The soldiers also had seven points in that department.

ENGINEERS AVERAGE 35.2. Making their 45 points in the "Y" was collected 36 last night, the U.S. Army Engineers were out shooting the Altimers at a percentage of 35.2. The Y.M.C.A. average works out to 10 per cent.

Had it not been for a last second quarter when they fired only one field goal out of 12 shots, Capt. Tom Link's Engineers would have rolled up a very tidy percentage. They carried over a lead out of 19 in the initial quarter, collected six field goals out of 13 attempts.

The Y.M.C.A. got away to a fine start with two out of 17 in the first quarter and they had

Vernon Deadlocks Western Intermediate Puck Finals

VERNON, B.C., March 11.—(CP)—Vernon Military All Stars beat Calgary Buffaloes 6-2 here last night before a crowd of about 2,500 to deadlock their best of three series for the western Canada intermediate hockey title.

Each team has won a game. The first was one tie, the second was played here tonight.

The first period ended 1-1, but Vernon showed its superiority in the second and outscored Buffaloes 3-1 in the final frame.

Calgary coaches were fired by Jim McGoldrick and Ernie Cameron. The latter was outcoaching Vern and although he scored no goals he set up the play for three scorers.

An official ruling on the method of playing the series was made after Buffaloes protested because there was no overtime in Monday's game.

Pat Allen of Nelson, C.I.A.F. officiated in charge of the series. Intermediate playoffs, ruled that if last night's game had ended in a tie after 10 minutes overtime, Calgary would have won the series with one victory and two tie games.

Annual Empire Tourney

One Canadian, Seven U.S. Golfers Share Title Berths

VICTORIA, March 11.—Seattle and Port Angeles, Washington, players shared seven of the eight championship flight berths Wednesday as the 15th annual Empire golf tournament reached the half-way mark.

Players from eastern Canada, and the prairie coast, were lined up to the pace of the smooth-stroking Pacific coast players with the result that R. K. Graham of Victoria, is the only prairie player to survive in the men's British cup championship flight.

A. H. Bennett of Toronto, tied his 15 strokes handicap to keep up with Harry Grant of Seattle, in the 18th hole, but there he faltered while Grant's educated put demonstrated the reason for his place on the handicap.

It was a bad day for Monday medalists. In the men's British cup, the 18th hole, but there he faltered while Grant's educated put demonstrated the reason for his place on the handicap.

The ladies' British trophy event was largely a Canadian affair. Miss Mary J. O'Brien and Mrs. J. C. Baldwin of Seattle, tied for first, ahead of Miss B. Ellis and Mrs. J. C. McKenney of Victoria. Mrs. M. McCree and Mrs. W. G. Thomson of Winnipeg and Mrs. M. Spoor of Saskatoon.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(CP)—Phil Watson, star centre of the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, and his brother-in-law, have been recruited and Mrs. Watson's reputation unit has been withdrawn, it was announced today.

War Effort Reviewed

Americans Told to Prepare Toughest Grimmett Year

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP)—The Truman committee told Americans yesterday to brace themselves for the "toughest and grimmest" year and attributed shortcomings in the country's war effort to "three basic weaknesses" which it said are being corrected.

Those weaknesses, the committee's second annual report declared, are:

- 1.—Inadequate overall planning within government agencies, the beginning of various programs, and delay in determining basic policies necessary to carry out such programs effectively.
- 2.—Continued authority over responsibility for various phases of the war program, resulting in gaps and back-pedaling.
- 3.—Inefficiency of government to adopt unpopular or impractical policies long after the facts clearly indicate such policies were necessary.

The committee, headed by Senator Harry Truman (Dem., Mo.), and known formally as the Senate committee investigating the war program, expressed confidence that despite the mistakes which have been made, "There has been great improvement in the past year, particularly in recent months, in the correction of the three basic weaknesses," it said.

No group in the country is solely responsible for the weaknesses, the report said, continuing: "They have shown up clearly in government war agencies as for example the failure of the old office of production management to plan in time the expansion of basic raw materials production, and the intra-agency confusion and bickering over the synthetic rubber program."

MUCH INEVITABLE
"Much of this was inevitable in so vast a program, involving such a tremendous dislocation of our economy as that necessitated by the war. Various sections of the public have been guilty of making mistakes. Perhaps, after all, this condition is due to the fact that we live under a democratic form of government where men do freely express their opinions and are not subject to dictatorial orders."

"Some war contractors have hoarded labor and pyramided costs. . . . The great labor organizations have done an excellent job in eliminating work stoppages. . . . However, it must be pointed out that the campaign to reduce absenteeism has not accomplished much."

"Many organizations have been slow to relinquish peacetime production and other rules that cut production, and have not been in press for inflationary wage increases in the face of their own long-range welfare and the national interest."

FARMERS LAUDED
"Farmers produced food magnificently under handicaps in 1942. Great production will be required in 1943. . . . Calling for harder work, longer hours and greater sacrifices, the committee predicted that 'America can and will accomplish the tremendous task set for her this year.'"

The committee saw as one of the primary needs of the year the cancellation of authority in a few officials.

All Precautions Will Be Taken In St. Lawrence For Parliamentary Economy

By FRANK FLAHERTY
OTTAWA, March 11.—(CP)—Assurance that every possible precaution will be taken to deal with any enemy activity in the St. Lawrence area during the coming navigation season was given in the House of Commons yesterday by Navy Minister Macdonald when he discussed recent statements made in the Quebec legislature on the subject.

The minister said he could repeat previous statements that the navy's records show only 20 ships sunk in the St. Lawrence area last year in reply to Osmeline Gagnon (Un. Matane), who said in the legislature at Quebec that upwards of 20 ships had gone down.

DEVELOPMENTS UNKNOWN
"I should like to say that in about two months time a new navigation season will open in the Gulf and St. Lawrence and we can only prophesy what action will take place in that area during the navigation season," Mr. Macdonald said.

SEES PROPAGANDA MOTIVE
He pictured members sending out huge piles of printed matter containing their speeches, and using the house facilities to spread political propaganda and doctrines to their constituents at the public expense.

Speaker Glen remonstrated with the member when the latter said the senators were "like a fifth wheel on a coach" and urged that at least their numbers be reduced and a retiring age fixed.

Mr. MacKenzie observed that Prime Minister MacKenzie King had supported senate reform and that there now were 11 vacancies, and suggested that "the plug and let them all go." The senate could be abolished by the prime minister refraining from filling vacancies.

H. Bence (Prog. Cons. Saskatoon) was the first of five speakers.

Abolition of Senate Urged For Parliamentary Economy

By C. R. BLACKBURN
OTTAWA, March 11.—(CP)—Abolition of the Senate was proposed in the House of Commons yesterday by H. A. MacKenzie (Lib. Lambton-Kent) as part of a series of parliamentary economy suggestions he made speaking in the budget debate.

"In the budget debate before the p.m. adjournment of the house. . . . The 'pay-as-we-earn' income tax plan proposed by Finance Minister Lloyd was not the Rumi plan, he said.

"This plan means we must pay 2½ years taxes in two years. . . . The administration put into effect a half-back Rumi plan last year. If the administration had put the Rumi plan fully into effect this year we would have avoided difficulties we will experience this year."

"I feel the people will be disappointed," he said.

C. E. Johnston (Ind. B.C. River) attacked the government's farm labor program and suggested Labor Minister Mitchell and Agriculture Minister Gardner had not co-ordinated their information and policies.

He suggested the labor minister was "just beating around the bush" and that either he or Mr. Gardner was not serious about the problem.

URGES HEALTH MEASURES
He urged specific efforts by the government to survey causes of health and loss of time in industries and seek means to prevent it by scientific, well-planned health and nutrition measures.

A detailed study of the causes of heart failure, "the captain of the men of death," should be attempted in an effort to ascertain which of the known causes most contributes to this disease so that measures might be adopted to remove them.

What Do You Feed Your Tooth?

"Why, he's on the same formulas as all the rest of my teeth. Plenty of calcium and phosphorus and a big plateful of vitamins C and D, every day. That's why he's so healthy."

In adult life, as in infancy, it's important to "baby" your teeth . . . to make sure their diet includes the right foods. Unfortunately . . . most of us grown-ups seldom give a thought to what we feed our teeth. We're very careful about cleaning them regularly, but no amount of cleaning prevents decay . . . it only delays it.

Teeth must be fed as well as cared for. If they do not get the foods that keep them strong and healthy, they can be the root of much ill-health. For a healthy body . . . you must have healthy teeth. For healthy teeth . . . you must have these two kinds of food—every day.

Foods That Build Teeth
These are the minerals, calcium and phosphorus. The best source is milk. If included daily in adequate amounts (children — 1 quart; adults — 1 pint), it builds children's teeth . . . keeps adults' teeth strong.

Foods That Protect Teeth
These are the vitamins C and D. Even when teeth are sound and strong, they must be continually protected from disease. The best vitamin C foods are citrus fruits and tomatoes—include one of them daily. Excellent sources of vitamin D are halibut oil and cod liver oil.

Consumer Needs
Beef Grading

It is far past the time when provincial authorities in Alberta should take some action to set up an adequate beef grading system similar to that now operation in Greater Vancouver.

With possible beef rationing in the offing and with some sort of standards existing in almost all other major staple food products, the time to do this is right now. The argument sometimes advanced, that this action should be withheld because of beef shortages carries little weight and cannot honestly be used much longer. In almost all other staple food purchases, such as butter, eggs, vegetables, etc., the consumer is protected by grade standards and the housewife can get her buying with the knowledge that she is getting a certain standard and that she is paying on the basis of grade.

MAJOR ARTICLE

Beef is probably one of the major articles in the food budget.

Members St. John Division Give Services Voluntarily

ALWAYS willing to assist with any emergency, and ready at a moment's notice to give first aid to victims of accidents anywhere in the city, the Edmonton Nursing Division of the St. John Ambulance Brigade is composed of members who volunteer their services voluntarily.

Each member is the holder of a St. John First Aid and Home Nursing certificate, and they attend meetings each week to keep them up to date on all methods of first aid and nursing. Once a month the members go to the Royal Alexandra hospital to attend a lecture and demonstration given by the Nursing Officer, Miss Louise Emerson. Drill instruction during the past winter was under the supervision of Constable B. D. Peck of the R.C.M.P. Motion pictures on anatomy and physiology were given at one meeting and others on the care of the teeth, tuberculosis and first aid to women. Members have also attended the services of special A.R.T. training.

There is also an organization for young people, called the St. John Ambulance Cadets. This nursing corps of cadets has a membership of approximately 50 juniors, under the leadership of Mrs. W. Dupuis. They meet every week for first aid and home nursing classes.

The St. John Nursing Brigade was organized in 1908 when The Majesties the King and Queen, visited Edmonton. The uniforms were grey uniforms, white aprons, and white veils with the St. John insignia on the left breast.

The nursing division was organized by the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, an ancient and venerable order dating back to the Crusades, and the chief patron of this order is His Majesty the King.

The Nursing Division was inaugurated in Edmonton in 1927, and shortly after this came a call from the University Hospital for books for men in the soldiers' wing.

The St. John Division has grown to some 1,500 books. Each week the members visit the men and give them reading material free of charge.

Several members are taking the first aid instruction given in city hospitals. Following this course they are qualified to work in military hospitals or even overseas if they are required. Anybody interested in taking a course should telephone Miss Norman Cox, 2330.

Miss M. O. Buchanan, who is a member of the division, is in charge of the staff, which is a St. John A.R.T. instructor, and she is the one who contributes the following:

During the First Great War, the St. John Ambulance Brigade was called upon to help the empire would train young women for service overseas, particularly for nursing in military hospitals. As this organization had previously come to an understanding in Canada with the Red Cross Society, the latter would take the place of the St. John Ambulance in the hospitals in England.

This is the first year that little girls' hats have had the benefit of "high styling" by nationally important milliners. Typical of the new models are the fashion inspirations above, created by a group of the nation's top-flight designers for copying in modest price brackets. The point of the new models is that they give young miss hats of individuality, while keeping the simplicity appropriate to the youngsters' age. Girls' hats run for the most part in the line of the "hat" which is also an important trend in grown-up hats. The bonnet at left, above, is of pink felt, dotted with pink and green blossoms and yellow yarn loopy-knots. It uses under the chin with a broad yellow yam. Your favorite miss will look and feel sunny in the gay bonnet at right, which is of sun-bright yellow felt, with a black ribbon band. The tip of the crown and brim sections are stitched in matching straw.

Wonderland in Sisk Temple

By KATHLEEN REX
VANCOUVER, March 11.—(CP)—West coast or east coast, it's all Canada. But sometimes this is a little different. The Sisk Temple in Vancouver, B.C., is a place where you can find a modern life ashore to a strange country — to the Punjab or to the West Coast of Canada.

When I visited there I felt a modern life ashore to a strange country — to the Punjab or to the West Coast of Canada. The Sisk Temple in Vancouver, B.C., is a place where you can find a modern life ashore to a strange country — to the Punjab or to the West Coast of Canada.

IRON A tip for the fortunate housewife who has an electric iron: Always try to distribute the iron over the entire surface of the shoe. This will give the shoe a better finish, and it will prevent the shoe from getting too hot in one place. Also, it will keep the padding from shifting.

CANADA FACES A WOOD-FUEL FAMINE NEXT WINTER

ARE YOU one of the Canadian householders who burned fences, doors, or even flooring to keep warm in this winter's subzero weather?

Or perhaps you are one of the lucky ones who just managed to scrape through?

In either case, you will want to be prepared for next winter when greater hardships than unless you take immediate action.

The shortage already has affected many communities — all stocks of dry wood are nearly exhausted — in some places the small supply of green wood cut for next winter is being used now to meet the present emergency.

Throughout most of Canada, fuel-wood is obtained not far from where it is consumed. Its production and distribution are the business of local citizens.

The Dominion Government recognizes that the wood-fuel shortage is so serious that even with the full co-operation of everyone in affected communities an adequate supply is not assured. Accordingly, it has been decided to stimulate the output of wood-fuel by assisting those normally engaged in its production and distribution. To this end, the following measures will be adopted:

1 A subsidy of $1.00 per cord will be paid to dealers on all commercial fuel-wood contracted for and cut on or before June 30, 1945, and held to dealers' stock at that date.

2 The Coal Controller has been authorized to arrange in his discretion for the purchase of such portions of fuel-wood contracts as he considers proper in respect of fuel-wood, particularly in cases where dealers, to procure supplies, find it necessary to contract for fuel-wood at locations outside the area from which they normally derive their supplies.

3 The Coal Controller will repurchase from dealers at dealer's cost all commercial grades of fuel-wood on which a subsidy of $1 per cord has been paid and which are still in dealers' hands as at May 31, 1944.

4 Assistance will be given in providing priorities for necessary equipment.

5 Farmers now on the farm, and who leave the farm temporarily in response to this appeal to engage in fuel-wood cutting, will be deemed by National Selective Service to be carrying out their regular occupation as farmers and will be given all the rights of deferment of military service which such an occupation now carries. Such temporary absence should not, however, interfere with agricultural production.

Municipal councils, farmers, fuel dealers, individual citizens, service clubs, and all other groups in communities where wood-fuel is burned, are urged to take such a rapid survey of their local situation, and to take immediate action to relieve the shortage.

High-Altitude Flying Becomes Increasingly Important

Airmen Demonstrate What to Wear at 40,000 Feet

Backgrounded by bomb-shattered buildings attesting the fierceness of recent R.A.F. raids, French citizens of Lorient, German U-boat base, await a bus to remove them from the city, following Nazi evacuation order.

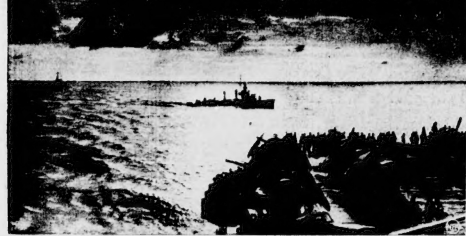

Where Is He Now?

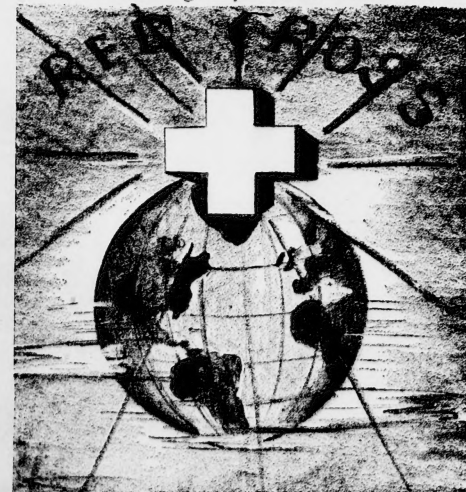

The fact that Adolf Hitler's message to the Munich meeting of Nazi party members was read to them in his absence added another knot in the tangle of rumors about his whereabouts and even existence. There have been no recent photos of him. The one above, just arrived in this country, originated in Axis sources, and according to the German caption was taken on December 18th. It shows Italian Foreign Minister Count Ciano (since deposed); Hitler and Marshal Hermann Goering at the Fuehrer's headquarters during a joint meeting of Axis general staffs. Nazi Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop is in background, between Ciano and Hitler.

One Bright Spot in the World

Edwin R. Monroe, Los Angeles aircraft plant executive, sued for divorce on grounds that his wife lacked glamour. "She looks better today than she usually does" was Monroe's grumpy comment. Mrs. Monroe, who seeks reconciliation, counter-charged: Hubby really seeks divorce because she beats him at golf.

Sail Ho!

Strange ship to be caught in a modern U.S. submarine's sights is this old-time schooner in enemy Pacific waters. Remarkably clear periscope picture (note crosshairs) shows vessel of type Japs use for inter-island supply and patrol work.

Home For Troops

Hollywood—Wanting to entertain more week-end soldier guests than their Beverly Hills home will accommodate, Jean Fontaine and Brian Aherne have purchased two tents to take care of the usual overflow. The tents will be pitched in the yard, the actress explained to fellow players on "The Constant Nymph" set at Warner Bros. In the past, Miss Fontaine said she and her husband had been limited to four service men guests over the week-ends. Two occupied one of the home's two bedrooms, while two slept on couches downstairs. The tents will supply sleeping quarters for at least eight more. The stars entertain both R.A.F. cadets and American soldiers. By bringing American and British troops together, Miss Fontaine said she hoped to help the cause of international friendship in a small way as well as show the boys a good time.

They look like bogey men, but actually these are three Royal Canadian Air Force fighter pilots demonstrating what to wear at 40,000 feet. The increasing necessity for high-altitude flying in fighter squadrons was emphasized recently by the experience of a pilot in the Middle East who climbed to 50,000 feet—nine miles above the earth—to bring down a specially-equipped German Messerschmitt. The trio shown here are Flight Sgt. R. Fuller of Hortonville, N.S.; Flight Lieut. J. G. Keltie of Edmonton, and Pilot Officer J. Johnson of Selkirk, Sask. Behind them is one of the new-type Spitfires with four-bladed propeller.

Yanks in Battle in Tunisia

Some That Hitler Didn't Get

The wrecked, riven and crewless vessels above are part of the French Fleet that Hitler didn't get when he took over the great French naval base at Toulon. The photo, from an enemy source, shows a German sentry looking over some of the ships scuttled by their own officers and crews last Nov. 27.

Bathing beauties in '43 will be wearing cotton bathing suits like this modeled by Hollywood's Elyse Knox. Rubber shortage, y'know.

Army Says "No"

"Lippy Leo" Durocher was so confident that he would pass his army physical examination that when he reported to his draft board, he boned up on "The Army and You", as pictured above. The Army nixed the voluble Brooklyn Dodger manager's hopes of shouldering a gun. They found he has a perforated ear drum.

"Son's" a Girl

"It's a boy," they told Mrs. Ann Irene Peile after she had given birth to a baby in a Los Angeles hospital on Jan. 16. Three days later the hospital changed signals and announced, "It's a girl!" So Kirch Barry Peile became Celina Ann, shown above with her mother. The mixup caused Mrs. Peile "shock, humiliation and doubt" to the amount of $110,000, she stated in filing suit against the hospital, a doctor and several hospital attaches.
